

Residents called on to help clean-up

Volunteers are being urged to get their wellies out and join a clean-up at a Great Barr park.

The Friends of Red House Park are staging an environmental day on Wednesday, July 14 and are calling on people to help them.

They plan to take rubbish from the pools in the park and mount a litter pick around it.

"Council workers will be supporting the friends and joining in the day," said Councillor Keith Davies, cabinet member for Sandwell Direct.

"All are welcome to attend.

"I would urge anyone who wishes to join in this worthwhile event to get out their wellies and turn up," he added.

"I would also like to congratulate the Friends of Red House not only for carrying out this initiative but also for the wonderful fun day they held recently.

"It was a tremendous success."

The environmental day is planned to take place between 10am and 2pm, although if people want to stay longer they can.
